

Gould Receives Key

Larry Gould, right, is shown as he accepts a "key to the city" plaque from Derby Mayor Duane "Pappy" Lynch recently. Gould who served two years as director of the Derby Emergency Medical Service and Mark Steinbuchel, assistant director, each were honored at a dinner held at The Carriage House. Dolores Warren has assumed the duties of director for the service and Duane Wixson is the new assistant director. Both have been associated with the ambulance department several years. Maria McKendry is the secretary/treasurer of Derby EMS, Peggy Wixson will continue as training director and Dr. James Oliver is the medical director. Also in the picture is seated left, Wanda Gould.
